

Editorial

Our Second Decade

We are about to embark on our second decade with Arthroscopy. There have been many changes that have taken place in our field within the first 10 years, and the second 10 promise to be filled with as much change. We begin 1995 with a new publisher, W. B. Saunders Company of Philadelphia. They are dedicated to the promotion of Arthroscopy worldwide and will help us realize our goals in this area. It is the purpose of the editorial staff and our new publisher, W. B. Saunders, to become truly responsive to the needs and desires of the international community. Our mission is to seek out innovations, wherever they may occur, and then make the editorial capabilities available to that author in order to craft a scientific article that will be useful to the readership throughout the world. We feel that this is a new and innovative policy and are thrilled to find a publisher who is willing to cooperate with us in this endeavor. The added energy and effort will result in a broader representation of work going on in the four corners of the world. Arthroscopy will thereby become an international link to researchers and readers to help shrink the size of our world and keep all of us abreast of the newest innovations in this rapidly advancing field of minimally invasive surgery and arthroscopy.

As always, we welcome all comments and concerns from our readership as we pledge to continue to bring you the newest innovations and revelations in the field, as well as insightful and thought-provoking articles.

GARY G. POEHLING, M.D.
Editor-in-Chief