

Announcements

Arthroscopy Journal Video Prize. At the recommendation of the Journal Board of Trustees and with the approval of the AANA Board, we are pleased to announce that the annual Journal prize in 2010 will be the Arthroscopy Journal Video Prize. Recognizing the value and taking advantage of what the Internet has to offer, we have exhorted our authors to “Go to the Video” in our effort to provide our readers with the highest quality, most instructive video supplements to published articles possible. And so, we will award a prize of $5,000 to the best video with narration to accompany an article published in Arthroscopy in 2010. The award will be judged by the Journal’s Editors and Associate Editors, who have recused themselves from the competition. Please see the Instructions for Authors for file type, length, and file size limits.

The Arthroscopy Association of North America 2009 Master’s Experience Courses will be held on the following dates: September 18-20, 2009 (shoulder); September 26-27, 2009 (foot/ankle); October 9-11, 2009 (knee cartilage); October 16-18, 2009 (shoulder); October 30-November 1, 2009 (hip); December 3-6, 2009 (senior resident/fellow). They will be held at the Orthopaedic Learning Center, Rosemont, IL. For more information, visit www.aana.org

The 12th Vienna Arthroscopy Forum will be held September 4-5, 2009 in the Center of Anatomy and Cell Biology of the Medical University Vienna, Vienna. The course fee is € 650, and will cover arthroscopy of the shoulder, elbow, and wrist. For more information, please contact Dr. Eva Gollob at eva.gollob@oss.at

The First Annual Scientific Meeting of the International Society for Hip Arthroscopy (ISHA) will be held in New York at the Hospital for Special Surgery, October 9-10, 2009. For information, visit www.isha.net

The 28th Fall Course of the Arthroscopy Association of North America will be held November 19-21, 2009 in Palm Desert, California. Visit www.aana.org for further information.

The Annual Congress of the French Arthroscopy Society will be held December 3-5, 2009, in Deauville, France. Symposia, lectures, instructional courses, and many more offerings will include simultaneous translation into English. For information, visit www.sofarthro.org

The Third Advanced Course on Knee Surgery will be held January 17-22, 2010, at Val d’Isère in the French Alps. Conducted in English, an international faculty will present courses on anatomic ACL repair, intra-articular proximal tibial fractures, influence of materials in knee arthroplasty, surgical options in unicompartmental arthritis, and patellofemoral instability. For information, visit www.kneecourse.com